PMA Financial Network, Inc. Debuts New Website

Chicago – October 15, 2009 – PMA Financial Network, Inc. (PMA), a leading provider of public finance solutions, announced the release of its new website—www.pmanetwork.com. The site aims to extend the reach of PMA's diverse product lineup and be a value resource for the nation's school districts and municipalities.

"The launch of the new website is an exciting time for PMA and its clients," said Mike English, President and CEO of PMA Financial Network, Inc. "With a broad base of product detail available to the public and robust account tools and educational resources available to registered members, PMA can truly act as a partner to public entities seeking long term financial success. We believe this new site is a powerful communication tool for PMA, and we're really looking forward to watching it grow in terms of content and users in the coming months."

Breadth of Content

For non-registered users, pmanetwork.com provides in-depth information regarding PMA's diverse array of financial solutions for the public sector, which include fixed rate investments, cash flow analysis, investment banking, financial planning and bond proceeds management. A site-wide search engine has also been included for easy navigation.

For registered users, the site offers multiple tools and resources. For example, the PMA Insight™ page provides timely education and thought-leadership to school districts and municipalities across the country. This content is delivered through various outlets including seminars and events, white papers, articles and on-demand presentations. Additionally, PMA clients will now be able to access their Governmental Portfolio System (GPS) and PMA Financial Planning Program (PMA FPP™) accounts directly from the website through a unified login.
